Dear Sir,

I am currently in the last year of my engineering degree at the National School of Computer Science and Systems Analysis (ENSIAS), Rabat, Morocco in Software Engineering. I would like to apply for the position of a development engineer internship in your company. During my three years of study at ENSIAS, I had the opportunity to mature my technical skills, a range of varied courses have clearly defined my general orientations and made me take a step back to the engineer profile I'm building. An orientation that converges towards the development of anything Web, Desktop or Mobile. But not that, my implication at the level of the extracurricular allowed to enhance my listening of the environment, my sense of responsiveness, my commitment, my sense of responsibility and my managerial skills.

The reputation of your company and its leading position on the market, the quality and seriousness of the services you offer are commensurate with your reputation. Being part of your company is for me a great source of motivation and a great opportunity for scientific deepening but also for personal development.

Today, I am able to take my first steps in the job market and bring my technical expertise, my know-how and my skills. I feel driven by the dynamics of your company and its openness to the computer field. I feel able to grow, to learn and to give generously, as part of a mutual exchange, my knowledge to yours.

Pending a favourable reply from you, please accept, Madam, Sir, the expression of my most distinguished greetings.

Faithfully,

Hajar SEDKI
